

Chesterfield-Hopewell 230 kV Partial Rebuild Electric Transmission Project

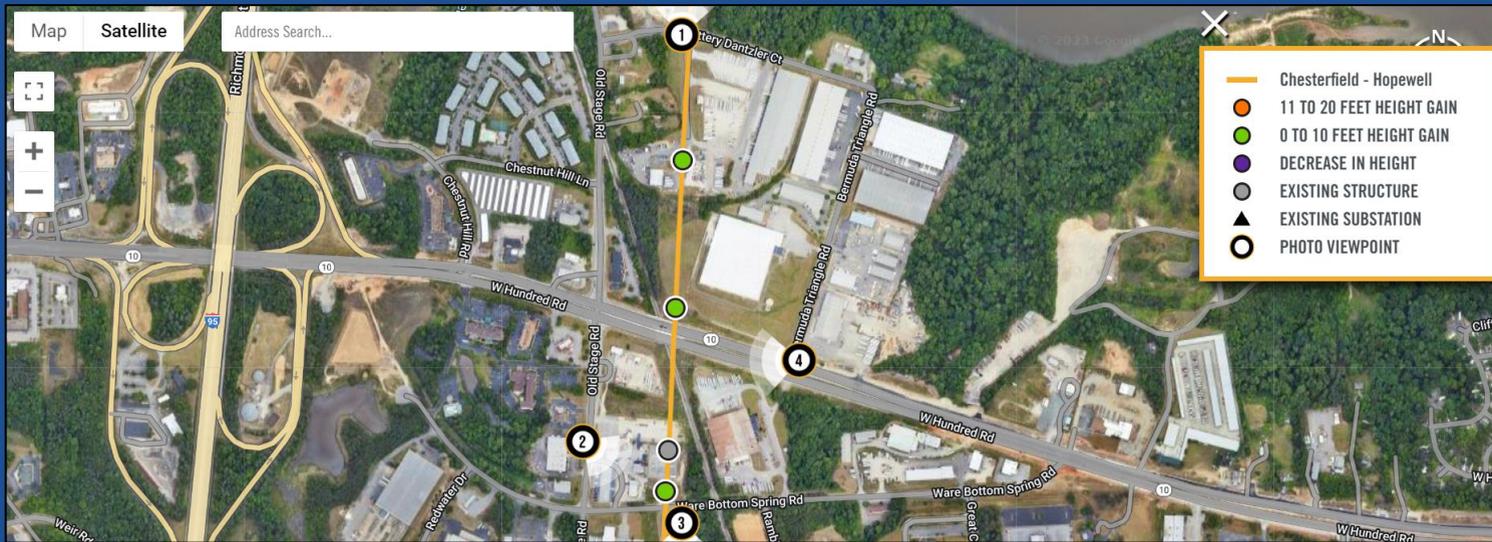

Introducing the Backyard Application, an interactive structure height comparison tool

Use your iPhone camera or the QR reader app on other smartphones to access the Backyard Application.

Take advantage of the Backyard Application features:

- Use the address search to see structure locations in your area.
- View details about individual structures by clicking on a structure location marker to see the name, existing height, proposed height, and height difference.
- Use the legend to understand structure changes, and the “Height Reference Diagram” for more detailed information about typical structure heights.

The Backyard Application is located on our website
